

How many more of these are there?

Subject: Continuing behavior

NOTE: I would sometimes go past Dudley's office to visit a colleague whose room was there. We had an arrangement whereby we would get together in each others's rooms (on an alternate basis) for a cup of tea!

Dear Ma. Lapointe,

Peter Gallo continues to act in a threatening manner. He regularly passes through the area in front of my office when he has no professional reason to be in that area. It also should be noted that 3 people in this area are being investigated as the result of his complaint. His frequent presence, therefore, seems to be a taunt which now has resulted in him physically pushing past Roberta in an area where he has no official business.

As mentioned last week, an environment of threat and disrespect for managers has been created by their authority being undermined and discredited. This behavior may be an extreme reaction to that sense of impugntiy but it is a result that might be expected.

There are not only concerns that this will escalate but also the general feeling that it has been orchestrated. Unfortunately, I am not in a position to contradict this sentiment.

Oh yes.... another CONSPIRACY against Dudley?

Thank you for your attention.

Michael Dudley

The audacity of this paragraph is simply mind-blowing

Dudley appears to be unaware of there being such a thing as being the author of one's own misfortunes. The reason for any "disrespect" was the Nguyen-Kropp & Postica judgement, and Laponte's failure to do anything about it, despite the fact that the staff now knew that Dudley himself had:

- openly disrespected, insulted and THREATENED Lapointe's predecessor;
- disrespected, disagreed with and was openly critical of everything that his immediate superior, the ID Director Michael Stefanovic tried to do, and had indeed been unable to maintain a positive or harmonious working relationship with anyone senior to him in OIOS since he joined;
- engaged in such unethical and unprofessional activities as manipulating and withholding evidence in the 0052/09 investigation;
- actually tried to argue that he should NOT be investigated by the Ethics Office for retaliation because (inter alia) there was "voluminous and critical documentation" against him that there was "no way of defending himself against it"
- wasted resources and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars to be spent on a patently retaliatory "investigation" (of very questionable independence) for no other purpose than to pursue own personal feud against Florn Postica.

WTF?

I have consistently and repeatedly stated that I have no recollection of even SEEING Roberta Baldini on the day in question!
