

Micheal Dudley has NEVER said "Good Morning" to me in his life.

On the contrary, he had treated me like a piece of dogshit since I challenged the PIP in March 2013....

Mike,

At about 0930 this morning I was returning from the 2nd floor canteen when I encountered Peter Gallo. After I said good morning, he began what could only be characterised as a rant, loudly recounting things that apparently were said about me during Florin's hearing last week. It was such a display that others took curious notice. I chose not to respond, yet he continued. We entered the elevator at about the same time but he then shouted, "I won't ride the lift with you, I don't trust you." He then abruptly left. The occupants of the elevator were a bit shocked and complete strangers were asking about the matter.

His comments, demeanour and tone were unprofessional and rather disturbing in a very public display. I am uncomfortable with his presence and request that he be kept in a location separate from me and the team that I supervise.

Thanks
Michael D

No, I challenged him on the FACTS; about the evidence of his own misconduct, which OIOS was very anxious to ignore.

He was so shocked and embarrassed he almost wet himself

And yet, after he complained about me in relation to the whiteboard, he told the Fact Finding Panel that he did not know me....

Unlike his own commendable and exemplary conduct, maintaining the very highest standards of professionalism and ethics.....

Noted Michael.

Peter dropped by my office this a.m. wherein he also briefly spoke of this incident. While his assessment of the meeting differs somewhat from yours - it (his side of the story) is pretty much irrelevant to me as I find even his version to be less than the professional standards I expect from my staff. I will be dealing with this matter today and was in fact something I intended to document even prior to your email.

Thanks Dan

And for the record: I find the behaviour of Michael Dudley (like that of his sycophants) to be far less than the standards I expect of any senior UN officials, far less those employed in OIOS or elsewhere in the "internal justice system."

The findings of fact in UNDT/2013/176 created a major credibility problem for OIOS; with this information in the public domain, the office lost all moral authority to investigate UN staff members for anything.

Why should ordinary UN staff have any trust or confidence in OIOS? With that sort of misconduct condoned by the UN "leadership" - why should ordinary UN staff members risk their own careers by reporting misconduct? The only thing they will achieve by doing so in ensuring their suffer (at best) the same fate as Nguyen-Kropp & Postica.

The difference between Dan Wilson and myself, however, is that I will do whatever I can to ensure something is done about it, whereas Dan Wilson will do whatever he can not to have to deal with the problem.

Dan Wilson's attitude is commonplace in the UN. It is also the explanation for why no one was willing to do anything other than write memos while children in the Central African Republic were being sexually abused, and the fate of Anders Kompass shows why that happens; because any UN staff member to tries to act with any moral rectitude when management is pursuing their own private petty political agenda WILL BE punished for it.

Dan Wilson (who describes himself as an "ethics professional") - not interested in the facts arising out of the Nguyen-Kropp & Posticas hearing; and why should he be?

If he acknowledge the grossly unethical behavior revealed in that hearing, that would put him on a conflict course with Dudley (who is protected by Lapointe and by Malcorra) and upsetting them might have a negative impact on his chances of becoming Director of the Ethics Office a post in which ignoring the unethical behaviour of senior UN staff is a pre-requisite for success

Dan,

This is disconcerting to hear. Since his behavior was rather appalling and my words were limited to good morning, it is unclear what could differ. It seems he may have compounded the problem by reporting potentially false information.

Thanks
Michael D

So.... Dudley insists that HIS version is correct and that I am not telling the truth...

Dudley, who has a history of dishonesty, a history of retaliating against staff is the one who was most at stake here.

I never denied challenging him with the evidence that was raised during the hearing, and which Counsel for the Respondent never even bothered to rebut.

And Lapointe echoes Dudley's comment!

What a surprise!!!

There was NO ONE from the USG's office in the courtroom to hear the evidence - and why should there be - Lapointe herself was implicated in the retaliation suffered by Nguyen-Kropp & Postica.

Is it not unusual that Lapointe was not in the slightest bit concerned with the disclosures about the unprofessional behavior of one of her own Deputy Directors, which included:

- withholding, then manipulating the evidence in an investigation,
- breaching confidentiality during the course of an investigation,
- retaliating against an innocent investigator with an exemplary record,
- using threats and attempting to intimidate her predecessor as USG/OIOS.

No, all that is important is that Michael Dudley was embarrassed in public.....

Michael, please make notes as verbatim as possible on what was said, while it is still fresh in your mind.
This will help to deal with it.

I do not know. I believe most were TIAA CREF employees. I did not recognize any of them even though all in the elevator looked at me and one asked if I knew the person (his attitude was that of shock in what he just witnessed. It was a bit awkward as it really caught me by surprise.

Dan,

Point 1 is correct.

Point 2 is rather curious since I said good morning Peter not more than a meter from him and there were not other noises or distractions.

Point 3 is in part correct in that he mentioned a statement he credited to me (although he said nothing of Min). He also mumble other words

Point 4 is correct and his exact words where "I won't take the lift with you. I don't trust you,"

He also was visibly agitated and spoke in an very loud voice with threatening mannerism of leaning forward into me as he spoke.

Thanks
Michael D

Note the arrogance in deciding what is "correct"

Dudley's recollection is the only valid one....

The chances of him saying 'Good Morning' to me were SLIM TO NONE.
A few weeks earlier he was saying I should not be permitted to send emails, Dudley had been trying to get rid of me for months, as his outburst of 26 June records...

Spoke to Peter.

Before proceeding further I need to run by his version of the events to see if they concur with yours.

1. He said this occurred in the second floor lobby. That there was yourself, him and 3 - 5 other individuals; none of which worked for OIOS.
2. He stated he did not hear you say hello or provide any other comments.
3. He stated he confronted you about how you had told Byung Min that your daughter could do a better job than the (former) USG in running OIOS.
4. That he told you he refused to take the same lift as you.

As I have already stated Michael I find Peter's conduct in this regard to be inappropriate. If you know or see any of the other individuals that witnessed this event please let me know. If you have any comments in relation to the above I would ask that you advise me as well.

Thanks Dan

Never mind the FACTS; just hide behind "procedure" and you'll be alright.....

This is the UN; "procedure" is more important that the sexual abuse of children too.

I have sought the input of both sides and find Peter's conduct in this regard unprofessional. If an OIOS staff member has an issue with another staff member; especially with any matter involving their children; raising it in a public forum is not appropriate. I will deal with the matter but must first wait for Peter's response to my meeting with him.
